Why work with us

We have a awarded a Project Management and Full Design Team Services (PMFDTS) framework and have a dedicated team committed to providing operational and commercial expertise to all public sector bodies.

By using the framework you can benefit from:

- customer support: providing comprehensive support helps you find the best way to select the most appropriate services and suppliers for your needs, and to then provide a framework management service
- experienced and expert suppliers: we have a deep understanding of the UK Government Construction Strategy 2016-2020, such as compliance with Building Information Modelling Level 2, Government Soft Landings and Apprenticeships. We ensure our suppliers do too, so that they are able to deliver the services you need to deliver in compliance with government policy
- ease of access: we have structured access by either direct award or further competition through simple call off procedures for central government and the wider public sector
- partnership: we work closely with our suppliers, ensuring we get the best deal for you
- time and cost efficiency: the frameworks have been procured in strict accordance with the Public Contract Regulations meaning that you don't need to embark on lengthy, costly or risky procurement activities
- market visibility: we make informed purchasing decisions, because we undertake significant market engagement and consultation and have excellent market intelligence
- choice: our wide range of suppliers and the services they offer will allow you to structure and secure the services that are best for your requirements
- savings: we have the capacity to drive savings from our bulk buying power through aggregation on behalf of all central government departments and wider public sector organisations
- transparency: our commission is low and completely transparent
- free to use: no customer fees or charges

Our best in class supplier management processes include monthly operational and quarterly strategic review meetings, which allow us to monitor performance, share best practice and develop commercial innovations with our suppliers.

"The manner in which CCS set up the strategic development of the offering and engaged with a variety of stakeholders and parties who have a vested interest in this framework, created and harnessed a collaborative and enjoyable environment. It was a great experience to learn and hear from other professionals and to contribute to what I believe is a solid and varied framework consisting of the best professional organisations the UK currently has to offer."
